Your Project, Our Role...

Our firm professionally documented, with photography, Medford's city-wide National Register properties for the Historical Commission's website.

Architectural pieces included pre-revolutionary through late victorian homes. Two of these buildings are National Historic Landmarks and one is the oldest nationally recognized H .H. Richardson Church.

The Preservation Collaborative completes photo-documentary projects on a regular basis of clients.

We attempt to capture the essence of a building, highlighting its most predominant features.

Our work is completed with state of the art technology, giving clients a beautiful product which they can cherish forever.
